CENTRAL.

Mr. Editor this week I will write you mostly about our trout that brings the most exciting sport to one, that loves the art of catching the speckled beauties. The season only fairly opened this week owing to the condition of the season being cold and high water. But Saturday the 13th inst. brought us some that will vouch this as the truth that saw with their own eyes as fine a lot of trout that could well be caught by the same number of persons in one day again; Frank Mastellar about seven pounds, and most all large ones. Four or five others passed through with their baskets full, numbering from seventy-five to one hundred and fifty each. The day seemed to be good for fishing and many spoke as though they missed it by not going a fishing too.

The gardens are mostly made for the early vegetables, the grass is growing up, everything looks cheerful and during the summer season this is a pleasant section to live in.

Rev. Houtz and Mr. Perry went fishing recently. The Rev. thinks that Perry don't fish long enough in one hole. He says where he used to fish they could sit down and wait for a bite.

Mr. Lutz has started an ice cream parlor at Central.

Quite a number of our people were at Bloom on a law suit the past week, which has made Central rather quiet.

Soon we expect to see lots of fisherman and candidates for office—will say all are welcome, come sooner and often.

As a Pastors Union we hereby recognize with appreciation the stand taken by the Bloomsburg Artificial Ice Company in not delivering ice on the Sabbath as eminently fitting and in keeping with God's Holy Law and for the best interests of all concerned, believing that the moral influence on the community as well as those engaged in the business will be for the better. And we hereby express our approval of their action and call upon the citizens of the town to sustain them in it. Adopted by the Pastor's Union, May 15, 1893.

Paul Tustin of Bloomsburg, delivered an address in the M. E. church last Sunday evening.

Two farmers were not long since discussing their local paper. One thought it had too many advertisements in it. The other replied: "In my opinion the advertisements are far from being the least valuable part of it. I look them over carefully and save at least five times the cost of the paper each week through the business advantages I get from them." Said the other: "I believe you are right—I know that they pay me well and rather think it is not good taste to find fault with the advertisements after all." Those men have the right idea of the matter. It pays any man with a family to take a good local paper for the sake of the advertisements if nothing more. And if business men fail to give farmers a chance to read advertisements in the local paper, they are blind to their own interests to say the least of it. "You never trade with me," said a business man to a prosperous farmer, "You have never invited me to your place of business and I never go where I am not invited; I might not be welcome," was his reply. —Press & Printer.

Mrs. Mary Frane is still critically ill.

Rev. Sechrist will hold services in the Lutheran church on next Sabbath evening.

Mr. James Fowler has so far recovered from his recent illness, as to be around again.

We met Benny Gibbons last Saturday evening returning from fishing. He basketed 101 speckled beauties, but we cannot vouch for their aggregate length.

In spite of hard times the farmer will plow and sow, and reap and mow.

We predicted that Barnum's show would not amount to much as it was too far from Benton.

No matter how hot the fight may grow in the coming canvass for political preferences, the Democracy of Benton township should retain their present Committeeman, John G. McHenry. If every township in the state had such a committeeman Pennsylvania would always be Democratic.

Mrs. C. E. Hower is reported to be dangerously ill at her home. She was first taken sick last Thursday, and since then has grown much worse, until her case has caused some alarm in the family. It is a species of La Grippe.

THE CIRCUS

Barnum & Bailey's greatest show on earth was in Bloom on the 11th inst. It exhibited in Pottsville on the 10th, and left there in good time in the evening, and started up the Catawissa branch of the P. & R. road, but soon came to a tunnel too small for its cars, and they had to back out and go back to East Mahanoy Junction, and go around by Sunbury and West Milton. The result was that the first section did not reach here until 9 o'clock, and the trains were not all unloaded until 2 o'clock. A large crowd gathered at the D. L. & W. depot at 4 o'clock in the morning to see the trains come in but they were disappointed. The delay prevented the parade, and hundreds of people who had come in especially to see this, went home without attending the show. It was three o'clock before the doors were opened, and the pressure at the ticket office was great. Several women fainted and some strong men came near it. The seating capacity of the tent is said to be fifteen thousand and nearly every seat was filled. In the evening about seven thousand people were present. The performance was up to its usual high standard, though owing to the lateness in opening, the programme was cut considerable. Pick pockets were busy in the crowd, and many people lost watches and money. One man was relieved of $130. A number of houses in town were visited by sneak thieves during the circus and more or less goods were stolen.

The show closed at ten o'clock in the evening, and in just one hour everything had disappeared from the ground. Loading the wagons on the cars took some time longer. It was interesting to watch the system with which the work was done. Every man had his particular work to do, and every piece had its own place. The bosses ordered the men around like so many cattle, and the immense canvass was taken down and loaded on the wagons in short order. The wagons were loaded on the cars by a rope and pulley one team of horses pulling them up an inclined plane easily. It was four o'clock in the morning before the last section of cars left Bloomsburg, for Wilkes-Barre.

THE PARISH HOUSE CASE.

The trial of the case of Jonathan Bachman against the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of St. Paul's church, Bloomsburg, took place in court last week, resulting in a verdict for the plaintiff for $548.

The evidence showed that the Building Committee who were authorized to erect the Parish House, made a contract in writing with Thomas Gorrey to complete the building for $5,650, and that they paid Gorrey that amount and held his receipt in full. It also appeared that Gorrey made a written contract with Johnathan Bachman to lay the walls up to grade line for $1.00 a perch, and above that line for $2.50 a perch. Gorrey alleged that under this contract he had overpaid Bachman $108, and produced receipts, substantiating this claim. Bachman however, while he admitted the written contract, alleged that there had been a change of that contract between him and Gorrey, and that as the stone were not furnished as it was agreed they should be, that Gorrey had promised him that he should have extra pay for the work. Gorrey denied every allegation of Bachman's. The court left the whole matter to the Jury, and they found as above stated. A number of exceptions were taken to the rulings of the court as the case progressed, and also to the charge and answers to points. An appeal will be entered and the case taken to the Supreme Court.

Church Repairs.

The work of repairing the Lutheran Church will soon be commenced. The building committee after many meetings decided that it would not be expedient to remodel after the plans submitted—the expense would be too great for the additional seating room gained. The former plans will therefore be abandoned and others substituted which will lessen the expense and beautify the present edifice, giving additional seating. The plans will be submitted to the congregation for approval after which work will be commenced and pushed rapidly to completion.

The residence of Glasco Cameron was entered on Monday night and a can of lard stolen. The lard was in the cellar and the thief entered by the cellar door, which had been left unlocked by mistake. People cannot be too careful about locking up at night.

OUR LETTER FROM HARRISBURG.

What Has Been Done in the Legislature—Other News from the Capital.

HARRISBURG, May 17.

The lawmakers started in this week to transact legislative business at a good lively pace, and are making a first-class showing down the home stretch on the road to final adjournment.

While some of the members of the house are of the opinion that it will take at least a week beyond the first of June to finish up the business that body will be obliged to transact before adjournment, others are equally confident that nothing will stand in the way of winding up the affairs of this session in time for them all to bid good bye to the legislative halls on June 1, as originally agreed upon.

The senate has received from the governor a veto of the bill authorizing the trial of issues on the statement and affidavit of defence and the taking of judgment for the amount admitted to be due thereon. Bills have passed second reading fixing at $250 the liquor license fee to be paid by wholesale druggists; requiring the capacity of beer, ale or porter bottles to be stamped in the glass; empowering foreign corporations to acquire and hold real estate necessary for business purposes; fixing the cost in criminal prosecutions; incorporating casualty insurance companies.

The anti-Pinkerton bill went through on final passage without a dissenting vote. When the house concurs in the amendments it will go to the governor.

Governor Pattison has returned without his approval the house bill to regulate the liability under policies of insurance on buildings and structures against fire and lightning. The real intent and purpose of this bill is to make insurance companies liable for the whole amount of the insured value of building and structure destroyed by fire, and not to limit their liability by the actual value of the property.

The house has adopted a resolution re electing Alexander Crow, of Philadelphia, a trustee of the Pennsylvania museum and school of industrial art from January 1, 1893. After brief discussion the senate judiciary apportionment bill, which came up on second reading, was postponed. The house bill permitting water companies to preserve water supply from contamination, which came back from the senate with amendments, has been further amended and laid over to be printed.

Mr. Riter, of Philadelphia, introduced a bill to prevent the pollution of inland waters and sources of domestic water supply, and it was almost immediately reported favorably by the committee on health and sanitation. The senate bill permitting the incorperation of wholesale meat and provision companies has been defeated.

The house, after a long discussion on the O'Kell-Quinnan contested election case, voted to unseat Quinnan, dem., and seated O'Kell, rep., instead.

Last week the house passed by a vote of 108 votes—a bare constitutional majority—the Wertheimer bill giving distillers of spirituous liquors the right to sell forty-gallon packages of their own manufacture without taking out license. Mr. Hockley, of Cameron, arose and said he noticed he was recorded as voting for the Wertheimer bill, something he wished to disclaim, as he was not present when the vote was taken. Under the circumstances the bill receiving but 102 votes, not a constitutional majority, it was defeated, and Mr. Crawford offered a resolution, which was adopted, recalling it from the senate. Just what action will be taken on this bill now is problematical, and there is no precedent. It is probable that when the bill gets back to the house it will be declared dead by the speaker, and that will settle it.

READING, May 17.—H. W. Straw, who came to this city from Philadelphia, was arrested on the charge of false pretense and committed to prison in default of bail. It is charged that he represented himself as an agent for the Protective Mutual Life Insurance Company, of New York, and induced parties to take out policies in this company, charging them $6, and promising to forward the policy in a few days. His latest victim was Hiram Young, who paid Straw $6 several weeks ago, and was to receive his policy in a few days. A week passed, and as no policy was in sight Mr. Yeager became anxious. He wrote to the branch office in Philadelphia, and was informed that Straw was no agent. It is charged that Straw has been defrauding people for some time in this city, and has also acted in the same manner in Pottsville, Lebanon, Pottstown, Birdsboro, and other towns in this section of the state.

LEBANON, May 15.—From an official source it is learned that the explosion of the locomotive boiler here Saturday by which two persons were killed and several others fatally injured was not due to a shortage of water, and some engineers are inclined to believe that it was not due to a defect in the material of the boiler. This being the case, the company has ordered the other engines of this class to the shops in Reading for a thorough inspection. The engine is the most complete wreck ever seen by railroad men. This is the fourth engine of this class that has exploded.

HARRISBURG, May 16.—The Pennsylvania victims of the green goods men who are held prisoners in the Raymond street jail, New York, for shooting George Phillips, the green goods man, are not Hall brothers, of Steelton, as first reported. There names are Edward K. and Robert K. Hoerner. One of them lives in Steelton and the other in this city.

HONESDALE, May 16.—The thirteenth annual session of the Pennsylvania division, Sons of Veterans, will convene here, under the auspices of Lieut. R. N. Torry camp, on Tuesday, June 6th, and remain in session several days. There will be a public reception and camp fire on the evening of the first days. There will be excursion rates over all railroads.

WILKES-BARRE, May 15.—To save the bodies of Harris Blenhard and Isaac Rosenwig, who will be hanged at Tunkhannock next Thursday from the dissecting table, Hebrews of this vicinity met and raised a fund with which to bury the murderers. They have no relatives in this country. They killed Jacab Marks, a peddler.

LANCASTER, May 17.—Mrs. Emma Archie, colored, died here aged 107 years. Her age is well authenticated. She was active and in complete possession of her faculties until recently, when she was stricken with paralysis. She was born in slavery, and was the mother of thirteen children, ter of whom are still living.

EASTON, May 17.—Diphtheria, which has wrought such great destruction of life among the children of this city during the past year, has broken out anew, and several new cases were reported to the board of health within the past few days. The board of health seems to be powerless to stamp out the disease.

WEST CHESTER, May 17.—The postoffice at Oxford, this county, was broken into and the big safe, which stood in the office, was blown open. Nearly $50 in cash and stamps in the office were carried off. The safe had been heavily blanketed before the explosion, and the noise was not heard outside.

CARLISLE, May 17.—Charles Salyards, charged with the murder of Officer Martin, was before court yesterday. His counsel made a strong effort to secure a continuance and change of venue, but Judge Sadler overruled the motion and fixed to-morrow at 10 o'clock a. m. for the trial.

LANCASTER, May 16.—The local tobacco market continues dull and there is nothing new to be said about the condition of affairs. The sales, however, which were reported yesterday were a little better than for several weeks past and footed up 642 cases.

FLEMINGTON, May 15.—Philip Weiler, one of Flemington's best-known citizens, was thrown from his carriage and killed. He was a Union soldier in the late war, a prominent member of the Flemington council, Royal Arcanum and a wealthy citizen.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—A private cablegram announces the death in Paris of Rev. Dr. McAll, of the popular McAll mission in France, the headquarters of the American branch of which association is in this city.

WILKES-BERE, May 15.—Arthur St. Clair Baker committed suicide here last night by putting two bullets through his heart while walking through the public square.

BRISTOL, May 15.—A woman of this city was found by the roadside beaten into insensibility, but after recovering she refused to have her assailant arrested.

ROYERSFORD, May 15.—A large number of Royersford glassblowers have formed a company and will erect a glass plant at Alexandria, Va.

SPRING CITY, May 15.—While visiting his sick daughter here, Peter Emery, fell downstairs and died of his injuries.

READING'S LOSSES WERE HEAVY.

Isaac L. Rice's Statement Says They Were Over $1,500,000.

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Isaac L. Rice, who, under the regime of Mr. McLeod, was the foreign representative of the Reading Railroad Company, with offices in London, and who after the appointment of the receivers for the road, made an examination of the employe's books in the interest of the bondholders, last night made public the results of his examination of the Boston and Maine and New York and New England stock transactions.

In summing up the report Mr. Rice says that the loss to the company on the Boston and Maine stock transportation amounts to over $925,000 and on the New York and New England, a loss of over $578,000, a total loss of over $1,500,000, considering the collateral used as obligations of the company now outstanding.

DID IT FOR READING'S BENEFIT.

McLeod is Out With a Reply to I. L. Rice's Report.

PHILADELPHIA, May 17.—Mr. McLeod last night made a lengthy reply to the implied censure of himself that was contained in I. L. Rice's report of the Boston and Maine and New York and New England stock deals, in which among other things he says:

"Everything I did from the beginning to the end in the purchase of shares of the Boston and Maine Railroad Company, and of the New York and New England Railroad Company was done solely and exclusively for the purpose of insuring to the Philadelphia and Reading company for its benefit and not at all for my own, or the control necessary to accomplish this alliance."

THEY MUST NOT VIOLATE THE LAWS.

Uncle Sam May Not Allow the Fair to be Open Sundays.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—The treasury department has not received any official notice of the action of the World's Fair commission on the Sabbath closing question, but Assistant Secretary Curtis, who has charge of all that matter, had a conference with Mr. Carlisle on the matter, and evidently prepared a plan for action but he refuses to talk until some official notice is brought to the department.

"I cannot anticipate what will be done," he said. "Attorney General Olney's opinion already given in the case covers some of the points, but further than this I cannot say."

It can be stated, however, that the government does not intend to sit idly by and see the Exposition authorities violate the law. Action will probably be taken before May 21, the day set for the opening, and the Fair people will no doubt feel the strong arm of the law.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—It is understood that the entire cabinet will urge upon Mr. Cleveland the desirability of making a strong recommendation in his first annual message in favor of an income tax. Of the four measures which the democratic leaders desire to get through the next congress, the tariff, the income tax, the repeal of the election law, and the repeal of the Sherman act and the bank tax, the income tax was the only thing, it is said, that Mr. Cleveland hesitated about, though he was inclined to favor it.

It is believed now that on the advice of his cabinet he will take a decided position in favor of the income tax. It is understood that a part of the plan for the next congress contemplates the turning down of Springer and the selection of Wilson, of West Virginia, as chairman of the ways and means committee, and also the retirement of Holman from the appropriations committee.

The decision of the supreme court on the Chinese law was under discussion by the president and his cabinet. Before the cabinet meeting Chief Justice Fuller, who dissented from the decision, called at the White House and had a talk with the president. It is evident from the manner in which the decision is received that it was a surprise to the administration.

The decision of the supreme court, was discussed from every point of view, and it is understood the conclusion reached was that the law could not be enforced for the reason that there was no money available for that purpose. The act carries an appropriation of $100,000, and Secretary Carlisle showed that not more than $35,000 of that sum remain, with some bills still unaudited to be acted upon.

It was estimated that it would cost to deport all the Chinamen now in the country who have not complied with the law more than $6,000,000. This statement exhibited what one member of the cabinet called the utter inability of the government to give any effect of the law itself, without further action by congress. Under the circumstances, it was understood that nothing could be done, and it is said there is little, if any, probability of the government making any immediate effort to put the law into effect.

Numerous telegrams have been received at the treasury department since yesterday noon respecting the decision of the supreme court in the Chinese exclusion cases. Most of these telegrams ask that the law be suspended for at least six months, as its execution at this time will impose great hardships on Chinamen in the United States.

A New Electric Road Opened.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., May 16.—The electric railroad between here and Johnstown has been opened. The travel has been immense. The streets along the line were crowded with spectators observing the working of the cars.

NEW YORK, May 16.—John Dempsey, 17 years old, a brass finisher of No. 436 Second avenue, was held in $1,000 in the Yorkville police court for shooting John Brady, 15 years old, of No. 465 Second avenue, in the right thigh.

Two Children Drowned.

BOSTON, May 16.—Maggie Sheehan and Nellie Callahan, each aged 7, were drowned in the South Bay by the capsizing of the boat, which was being handled by Michael Sheehan. The latter and his little son were saved.

There Were Many Mining Accidents.

HARRISBURG, May 16.—In the report of the mine inspectors of Pennsylvania for 1892 it is stated that there were 332 fatal accidents to miners in the anthracite and bituminous regions during the year.

The Losses Adjusted.

WORCESTER, Mass, May 17.—The loss on the woolen mill of M. A. & J. E. McWilliam at Hubbardston, burned a few weeks since, has been adjusted for $21,897.09.

PSALM OF THE BALD HEADS.

Tell me not in merry accents
That I have an unthatched roof:
'Tis the hairy head that lacks sense-
Baldness is of thought a proof.

Hair is vulgar, hair is useless,
And to brush and comb a bore;
Making life but dull and juiceless.
I need brush and comb no more.

Not for wise men matted hair is,
Black or brown or red or fair;
Let the savage of the prairies
Waste his time in raising hair.

Life is short and hairs are numbered,
And, though flies are hardly borne,
Still at night I've always slumbered,
When the night-cap I have worn.

In the world's broad field of battle,
Who'd be at the barber's call,
Listening to his tiresome tattle?
Better bare as billiard ball.

Fear no future, bald-headed brother,
Yet were bald in infant days;
Crave not hirsute of another—
Brain it is, not hair, that pays.

Lives of great men all remind us
That our smooth and polished pates
Leave all hairy heads behind us—
Let us thank the favoring fates!

Footprints of Old Time's fleet walking
No one sees on our smooth crowns;
Mind no more the idle talking
Made by anxious mop-head clowns.

Let us then, O hairless brother,
Proudly through life's pathway roll;
We remember that dear mother
Earth is barren at the pole.

A Candid Opinion.

Civil Engineer (in search of data)—Is it not the opinion of many people in this locality that the excessive overflow of these bottom lands is due to the lock and dam system?

Native (of Illinois River bottom)—I reckon.

"Based on the fact that dams retard the velocity of the current and increase the deposit of sediment in the river bottom, thus gradually elevating its bed?"

"I guess that's about hit."

"You have resided in this vicinity many years, have you not?"

"Ever since I wuz a boy."

"May I ask if your theory coincides with that I have just suggested?"

"Hey?"

"As to the flooding of these lands, I dare say you have an opinion concerning the cause of it?"

"You bet I have."

"In your judgment, then, what is the cause?"

"Rain."

Very Queer.

Effie—Did George play football while he was at college?

Maud—No, I don't think he did.

Effie—Did he row on the crew?

Maud—I never heard anything about it.

Effie—Then he must have played baseball.

Maud—He never said anything about it. I'm pretty sure he didn't, though.

Effie—That's very queer.

Maude—Why?

Effie—Because I heard that he was graduated with honors.—Harvard Lampoon.

Time is Money.

Colonel Simpson, who was always asking people to advance him money, died not long ago at the age of eighty-six. Two gentlemen, one of whom had advanced him money very frequently, were talking about the deceased, when one of them took occasion to say:

"With him the ruling passion was strong in death."

"How so?"

"Well, you see, he even died at an advanced age."—Texas Siftings.

A Good Reason.

Little Johnny Fizzletop has the habit of waking up every night in the middle of the night and demanding something to eat. At last his mother said to him:

"Look here, Johnny, I never want to eat anything in the night."

"Well, I don't think I'd care much to eat anything either in the night if I kept all my teeth in a mug of water."—Texas Siftings.

Hearing the Returns.

Jobson—What did Hobson say about my play?

Dobson—He said he certainly felt that he had gotten the worth of his money.

Jobson—Anything else?

Dobson—Oh! yes; he asked me to thank you for the complimentary ticket you sent him.—Truth.

Prisoner—I simply did what I was asked to do, Your Honor.

Judge—What do you mean?

Prisoner—I obeyed a sign that said, "Hands Wanted on Pants."—Clothier and Furnisher.

An Impediment.

Scribendus—I've got a beautifully dramatic idea for a story.

Editor—Then why don't you write it up?

Scribendus—Well, the only trouble is that it has been done before by Balzac.—Judge.

Had Studied to Advantage.

DOG OF THE CIVIL WAR.

"Zip" Met a Confederate Adversary While Two Batteries Cheered.

"I had a dog that followed me all through the war, and was of great service to me," said Cap. Fred Smith, a member of the Old Veterans' Club, according to the St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

"He was just a common, 'ornery' looking 'yaller' dog, but he had the heart of a woman and the courage of a lion. I enlisted at Mattoon, and the dog followed me there. I sent him back home, but he wouldn't stay.

"The Captain took a liking to Zip, and when we were ordered South he went along. Zip participated in several of the big battles of the war, and in any number of skirmishes. He would take up his position near our battery of field pieces and bark defiance at the Confederates.

"At Shiloh a shell exploded within ten feet of Zip, cutting off three inches of his bushy tail. That angered him, and he advanced on the enemy barking furiously. The lines were about 500 yards apart, and shot and shell were flying thick as hail. Zip ran forward fully 300 yards and gave the Johnnies to distinctly understand that he allowed no hampering with his tail.

"The Confederate battery also had a dog, a big, lank mastiff, and he came out to see about it. They didn't waste any time sparring for an opening, but took hold in dead earnest. The Johnnies stopped shooting and began to cheer their dog. We did the same. For full ten minutes those two batteries stood silent while the gunners watched the contest of the canine knights, who fought as though the fate of nations depended on them.

"'Sick him, Tige! Give it to the Yankee son-of-a-gun!' yelled the Confederate cannoneers, advancing in front of their guns.

"'Go it, Zip! Rip him into ribbons, Zip!' we yelled, also advancing well in front of our lines. A Confederate sergeant threw a rock at our dog, and that brought on trouble.

"'Keep your hands off that dog!' yelled the Captain of our battery, as he hurried back and trained a gun on the Confederate group.

"That set both batteries to roaring again, and beneath the flood of iron those dogs fought on. I am sorry to say Zip got the worst of it. He was outclassed, and, though he put up as game a fight as ever dog did, he was sent to his corner loser. How the Confeds did yell and hoot and howl! But we had our revenge. We socked a six-pound shell into their dog and blew him into sausage meat."

A Thrifty Maiden.

An indulgent uncle promised his niece a wedding dress when she should require such an article. The happy time came, and he was as good as his word; he gave her two hundred and fifty dollars with which to adorn herself. The young lady immediately conferred with a friend, who had some six months previous herself become a wife. "An expensive wedding-dress is an odious extravagance," quoth the youthful matron; "I wish I had never thrown away my money on one." "And yours was such a beauty!" replied the prospective bride. "It was; but it is a white elephant now. I have never had a chance to wear it since. I'll sell it to you for a third of what it cost, veil, shoes and all. None have ever seen daylight since my wedding." A long pause ensued. The maiden was considering the offer. Presently she said: "I'll tell you what I'll do, dear. I'll hire yours for the occasion, just as people hire their flowers for the same ceremonies. How much will you take for the use of it for a day?" "Ten dollars." "It's a bargain. What a capital idea! And I shall look just as well as if I had spent the whole two hundred and fifty dollars on a dress." And this thrifty young damsel became a wife in an exquisite costume which was glowingly described in the fashion papers, and for the use of which she paid only ten dollars. And already, from this small beginning, there is springing up an industry which consists in the application of the "hire system" to wedding costumes. Soon, no doubt, we shall see numerous advertisements in this style: "Young ladies about to marry. Do not throw away your money on useless wedding-dresses, but call at A. B. and Company's, and see the things of beauty which you can hire for the day at most reasonable prices."

Advice to Young Men.

Here are a few good rules given to nervous young men who are just starting out in that serious business of calling upon young ladies.

Ring the bell with your right hand, which should always be ungloved in case you are obliged to shake hands before being unable to take the glove off, though there are those who think gloves may be kept on and removed at leisure. Hand one card to the servant for each of the persons you are calling upon and state distinctly the name. Similarly some men never give but one card. If you are calling at a house where a young lady is visiting another lady whom you do not know you should invariably leave a card for the hostess also. This is a matter of courtesy to her. In a case like this you should, if in the evening, invariably wear evening dress, no matter how well you know the young lady—that is, if you move in a dress-suit circle and have one.

When she introduces you to her hostess she will be much better pleased if you are beyond criticism. Leave your hat and overcoat in the hall, and after you are ushered into the parlor or reception-room it is well to sit in a chair that faces a door, so that when your friend enters you can rise gracefully, facing her. Upon leaving do not expect that she will follow you into the hall. Invariably say good-night before leaving the room. And when you have said good-night do not stand upon the order of going, but go at once.

OUR WORLD'S FAIR LETTER.

THE LABIDA CONVENT FULL OF RELICS. BOOKS FOR THE LITERARY PEOPLE. SWEDEN'S ART EXHIBIT.

(From our Special Correspondent.)

CHICAGO, May 16.—The first touch of summer has come at the exposition, and rolling chairs, launches and gondolas are in great demand.

Marvelous as the rapidity of the work has been from the start on the grounds, it was never better exemplified than by the strides made by the landscape department in beautifying the grounds. Now that the work of installation has in so great a measure been completed, the landscape man is getting his work done. Great patches of ground, which yesterday were hard banks of clay trodden down by hundreds of hurrying feet, are to-day covered with soft green turf, inclosed by iron railings, with a stern-voiced Guard ready to call the patrol wagon for the unlucky visitor who chances to set his shoes on the tender young grass. We visited the La Rabida Convent yesterday. One feels the sacredness of those relics of Columbus' home. On the outside tents are pitched and the soldiers there and in the convent with their heavy muskets mean nothing but that their lives are pledged to protect this collection, which belongs to the Vatican and the decendants of Columbus. All the royal letters patent from the sovereigns of Spain to Columbus and many letters written by Columbus himself are in the cases. His will is also there. At one end of the room is a collection of pictures loaned from the Vatican of Pope leo. A contract was made by Spain with the United States before the collection left there that it should be guarded by a detachment of United States soldiers. That contract is fulfilled to the letter. No one is allowed to touch the glasses of the cases even. There are some wonderful pictures on the walls. No two artists have the same idea of the features of Columbus. There is a fine portrait of him there, as also a picture of Ferdinand and Isabella, the king and queen of Spain.

At the north end of the west gallery in the department of liberal arts are the exhibits of the leading American publishers. The booth inside is fitted up as a library with copies of all firms' publications neatly arranged on shelves. An open fire place, with antique cushioned settees around it a table, with comfortable chairs and several busts of eminent men artistically arranged around the tops of the bookcases, give the room the air of a comfortable library. A specialty is made of the works of the great American authors, such as Holmes, Longfellow, Emerson, Hawthorne, Whittier, and Lowd. Busts of these celebrated authors together with that of Harriet Beecher Stowe, are arranged around the tops of the spans which contain sample copies of their works in uniform cloth binding. This is a free reading room, and when the visitor is weary of sight seeing no better place to spend a quiet hour than this can be found on the grounds.

The Spanish exhibit was opened for the first time to-day. Many fine exhibits are to be seen there. But Sweden beats them all in curious art works. This display has been ready for some time, but being hemmed in between the Belgians on one side and the Norwegians on the other, neither of whom were ready to open, it has been difficult to get at it. There are plenty of Swedish landscapes on the walls. They appear very strange to us, ignorant of the climate and conditions under which they were painted. For instance, one picture was called the Return of the Wild Geese. The first impression is of a very dark winter afternoon; but no, it is night in that far off country in the north, and you try to realize, if you are an untraveled person, what the long nights in which painters can see to paint, may be like. All the pictures seem very odd in their coloring.

The electric fountains, three bands of music, five search lights, hundreds of arc lights and thousands of incandesent lights united in one dazzling illumination on Saturday night. On either side of McMinnies' fountain the electric fountains lifted their liquid prisms and flashed their kaleidoscopic jewels. For the first time the waters of the grand canal were illuminated by all the incandecsent and arc lights. Over all three grand search lights shed their rays. Administration building, sought for words to express their admiration. The peristyle and cornices of the great industrial palaces on either side of the canal were etched against the dark night by lightening and the splashing of the water from the fountains mingled with the strains of harmony from the bands stationed in front of the administration building. One of the grandest sights was when the lights were all turned off for a moment, and then the three search lights shot out in the midnight darkness. The effect of the five fingers of light pointing out over the grounds held the spectators spell bound. It seemed as though they were giving a warning to those on the ground that the fair would meet with some disaster. It made one shiver, and many turned away and refused to look longer.

NOTES.

It has been decided to have the Exposition grounds open on Sunday; but not any of the buildings in which are exhibits. This does not prevent any of the State buildings from keeping open however. There is attraction enough on the grounds alone to draw great crowds every Sunday.

At present there are 850 roller chair pushers on the grounds. These young men are all students from the different colleges, and are not only attendants, but are intelligent guides as well. The chairs are becoming quite popular with the lady visitors.

There are over three thousand articals of German armor in the village at the Midway Plaisance. The collection is valued at $1,000,000.

Governor Pattison has signed the bill increasing the maximum term of imprisonment for murder in the second degree to twenty years.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

THE GREAT BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

Diablo Captures First Prize and Wins a Purse of $18,000.

GRAVESEND TRACK, May 16—In the Brooklyn handicap yesterday Diablo showed a tremendous burst of speed on the home stretch and came in winner of first money after one of the most spirited exhibitions of racing ever witnessed on the Gravesend track.

The purse for the winner was $18,000. Lamplighter won second, and Leonawell third; the two latter receiving respectively $5,000 and $2,000.

The great race was witnessed by more people than have ever turned out to a like event in the history of the track. There were admission tickets sold to 29,800 people and besides this there were at least 300 free tickets given out which would swell the crowd to fully 31,000 spectators.

The weather was beautiful throughout the entire day and betting on the result was at fever heat until the sixteen "spike-tails" were off to try conclusions for the big purse.

The winner's time was 2:09, made fractionally as follows: Quarter, 25 1-4; half, 51; three-quarters, 1:16; mile, 1:42 1-2; mile and a quarter, 2:09. Diablo was an extreme "outsider" so far as betting was concerned.

PALLISTER PROBABLY SHOT DEAD.

What the Autopsy on the Dead Convict's Body Revealed.

SING SING, N. Y., May 17.—The autopsy on the body of Pallister was completed yesterday afternoon. Dr. Irvine said that the cause of death was a pistol shot wound in the head.

The bullet was 32-calibre, and had passed through the cheek, under the left eye. It lodged in the base of the brain, which was in a ragged condition.

In the opinion of the two physicians Pallister was dead before reaching the water.

The organs were in good condition, and the lungs were found to be inflated with air.

A Freight Wreck on the Reading.

HAMBURG, May 17.—A freight wreck occurred yesterday on the Reading railroad at the sharp curve a short distance south of this station. A north-bound freight train ran into the rear end of a coal train, piling up a number of cars and wrecking them badly. The locomotive of the freight train was thrown down the embankment, and is now lying near the edge of the Schuylkill. The crash was heard nearly a mile away. Engineer Frank Fry, of the freight train was slightly injured. He was taken to his home in Philadelphia.

FRIDAY, MAY 19, 1893.

The United States Supreme Court on Monday decided the constitutionality of the Chinese Exclusion Act, which makes every Chinaman not registered liable to deportation from the Uuited States. There are about 100,000 unregistered Chinamen, and if the act is enforced will require at least $3,500,000. As the fare alone will be $35 each. The amount of money now available for enforcing the act is only $70,000. The Act applies only to laborers; Chinese merchants can come and go as they please. There is some fear that the Chinese may adopt a retaliatory measure and exclude all Americans from their borders.

WASHINGTON LETTER

WASHINGTON, May 15, 1893.

Speaker Crisp, after spending a week in Washington, left for home Saturday night. He was in a glorious good humor, as he had a right to be, for it is now as certain as anything in the future can be that he will be elected Speaker of the next House. President Cleveland informed him before he left that he had fully decided, notwithstanding the arguments presented by prominent members of the party in favor of an earlier date, not to call an extra session of Congress before September.

The leaders of the democratic party have it is stated agreed upon four things to be pressed when Congress meets, and it is probable that President Cleveland's message to Congress, and may be his proclamation calling the extra season, will be largely devoted to arguments for speedy action upon them—the repeal of the obnoxious Federal election laws; the levying of an income tax; the repeal of the Sherman silver law and of the tax on the currency issued by state banks, and a complete revision of the tariff, lowering the duties.

Secretary Carlisle defied the high muck-a-mucks of mugwumpery who tried to bulldoze him into retaining the republican chiefs of divisions in his department, and is proceeding to replace them with democrats, just as he at first intended to do, and working democrats admire him more than ever.

Reforms in keeping with democratic ideas are being quietly introduced into all of the Government departments as fast as their heads have an opportunity to investigate abuses which have grown up under republican rule. Secretary Herbert's order that no more naval officers should be granted leave of absence to enter private employ was followed by Secretary Lamont's determination to stop similar abuses in the army, and not only to refuse to allow it in future but to revoke the leaves of all those officers now engaged in other occupations, except those granted by special acts of Congress. Sec. Lamont has also announced his intention to make almost a reorganization in that important branch of the War department known as the division of records and pension. This division is closely associated with the Pension Bureau, as it has to verify the army record of every applicant for a pension. Some forty or fifty changes have already been made in this division.

It may be true that Comptroller of Currency Eckels has had no experience in the actual details of banking, but the promptness with which he has acted during the past few days, when the suspension of national banks for a time were frequent enough to be alarming, has convinced the Treasury officials and the banking world that he is thoroughly posted upon the laws that govern banks and that as a cool-headed business man he has never had a superior in that office. He has proven himself to be a valuable assistant to Sec. Carlisle and his promptness in dealing with suspended banks has had no little to do with restoring that public confidence without which banks of no kind can long exist. Mr Cleveland made no mistake in selecting that young man for Comptroller.

Commissioner Lochren is already finding his place a very hard one to fill, but he is not disappointed: he did not suppose that he was selected to take charge of the Pension Bureau merely to draw a salary. Already a series of frauds all put through by one pension attorney, located at Norfolk, Va., have been discovered and a force of expert examiners are now engaged in investigating every case that this attorney has had anything to do with, the Commissioner being determined to get to the bottom, and to punish the guilty. The worst thing about the crooked work done by this attorney is that it was called to Commissioner Raum's attention last year and he declined to prosecute him, because it might injure the republican party. The amount of money obtained by these fraudulent pensioners cannot be exactly stated until the examiners have concluded their investigation, but it is already known that it is more than $100,000. But there is one thing that can be positively stated, and that is, that the frauds will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law by Commissioner Lochren, just as fast as the necessary evidence can be gathered, regardless of who or what may be injured thereby. Judge Lochren has abrogated the notorious "completed files' rule, which was made by Raum to please the pension attorney who indorsed his notes for twenty odd thousand dollars soon after he took charge of the Pension Office.

A Difficult Problem.

How to increase expenditures without increasing taxation is a question that will very soon confront the American people, and it is perhaps as well to consider it now, as to wait until some backward steps have to be taken. A continued increase of taxation will at no distant day put it beyond the ability of certain classes to meet the demands made upon them.

Retrenchment will then become a necessity. A prudent man will not needlessy or rashly increase his outlays at a rate that must inevitably sooner or later make retrenchment a necessity. Governments whether national, state or municipal should exercise the same wise precaution. A man who increased the salaries of his employees beyond a fair remuneration, would hardly be considered a prudent man. He would rather be regarded as lacking in business capacity or sound judgment. If any difference of opinion existed as to what was a fair salary, the fact that there was a goodly number of men equally capable ready to accept the situation at the old rate, would settle the question against any increase. Applying this rule to those who have the regulating of the salaries of our public servants, we must conclude that in many cases they have acted very imprudently.

Although comparatively a young man I can well remember when our county commissioners received less than half of the fee that they are getting at the present time, and there was no lack of candidates for the place, and men as capable as any we now have. A certain amount of increase was at one time necessary, but there never was an excuse for raising it to its present dimensions. The first County Superintendent of our public schools was elected at a salary of three hundred dollars per year. We will all agree that that was too low, but there was three candidates in the field for the next election, without any assurance that the salary was going to be increased.

Two of those candidates withdrew before a vote was taken, one before, the other on election day, but not on account of the smallness of the salary.

The salary however was increased at that election to five hundred dollars. Had the salary never been further increased, there never would have been a lack of men to fill the place; and as that is considerably more than a large proportion of our tax payers realize for their labor, it is quesionable to my mind whether the salary should have been increased beyond that figure.

I am aware that a person will be accused of being illiberal in his views, when he thinks that office holders should be confined to such small salaries; but let those who censure place themselves in my situation and be confined to a much smaller amount and then see how the matter looks.

Plain people are at a loss to see why some should have incomes that enables them to indulge in luxuries, if they wish or to horde money whilst many of those who have to foot the bill are combined to the bare necessaries of life.

It is claimed that other officials no more worthy are receiving as large or larger salaries. This is true, but it is equally true, that others equally worthy are confined to much smaller incomes. Would it not be well to level down on those who are getting salaries beyond their deserts until we get to a position where all worthy men can fare alike. Leveling up is out of the question, and we cannot all have a turn at the public crib, no matter how worthy we may be.

There is or was a bill being engineered in the state legislature to increase the salary of the State Superintendent to five thousand dollars per year. Why this should be so, when scarcely three years has elapsed since the present incumbent and his competitor were making use of all the cunning they were master of to secure the prize at the old rate. "Surely madness filleth the hearts of the sons of men."

To increase salaries in any of the above cases or in any similar case, is not merely imprudent, it is a crime. It is the bounden duty of officers to take care of and not to squander money placed within their control.

JAMES I. CAMPBELL.

Legislation.

The bill providing for compulsory education that had already passed the House passed the Senate finally; also the House bill providing that voters must cast their ballots at polling places inside the election district in which they are domiciled. The House concurred in the Senate amendment to the Farr compulsory education bill and it goes to the Governor. Among the measures that have recieved the Governor's aproval are that authorizing the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to grant teacher's certificates to graduates of recognized colleges and that authorizing corporations to pay pensions for faithful and long continued services. The Brodhead bill, giving water companies the rights to condemn land to preserve their water supply from contamination, passed finally.

The following Senate bills passed finally: Extending the time for completion of the West Chester and Wilmington plank road; for the punishment and prevention of cruelty to animals; granting an annuity of $240 to Frank Marshall, of Scranton, a member of the National Guard; authorizing the incorporations of companies for the construction of boulevards.

The following House bills passed finally: Providing for the establishment of a State naval militia; providing for the preservation of records in county officers and for the punishment of county officers for neglect of this duty; directing County Commissioners to procure, bind and preserve weekly papers published within their respective counties; repealing the act requring the Philadelphia & Delaware River Railroad Company to maintain gates at its intersection with the Reading Railroad Company's tracks; requiring all public records to be kept in the English language; authorizing notaries public to adminster oaths and take affidavits in divorce proceedings; authorizing Courts of Quarter Sessions to change the polling place in any election district on the application of at least ten qualified electors of the district.

The Senate has passed finally Repsenetative Farr's compulsory tuccation bill.

The breaking up of the winter is the sign for the breaking up of the system. Nature is opening up the pores and throwing off refuse. De Witts's Sarsaparilla is of unquestionable assistance in this operation. W. S. Rishton, Druggist. 10-14-1yr.

Small Coin Becoming Scarce.

A casual reference to the scarcity of two cent pieces the other day has elicited a statement from a business man that one cent pieces are also becoming scarce all the while, a loss very much felt by small dealers in retail merchandising. Very few three cent pieces are now seen in circulation, while the five cent pieces is also becoming less in number. Much of this scarcity is attributed to the "savings bank" system, so popular among American boys, and which will continue to reduce this class of coin in circulation until the Christmas holidays of 1893, when Santa Claus will be a factor breaking these depositories and sending their contents through confectionery and toy stores.

Hood's Healed the Sore in Seven Weeks—A Perfect Cure.

"I will recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla as first-class. It has proved its merits to us. Twelve years ago my wife was picking raspberries when she scratched herself on a brier, the wound from which soon developed into a terrible sore, between her knee and ankle. Notwithstanding all we did for it, it continued discharging for eleven long years. We tried medical skill on every side, with no effect. About a year ago she read of Hood's Sarsaparilla and concluded to try it herself, and while taking the first bottle she felt better and continued with it until today she is entirely well and better than ever. The sore was healed up in seven weeks. Her limb is perfectly sound. We attribute her cure entirely to Hood's Sarsaparilla." JACOB N. AUGHENBAUGH, Etters, York Co., Pa.

NATURE'S REMEDY FOR LIVER COMPLAINT — SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE LIVER PILLS

5-19-4t. d.

Pennsylvania People Benefitted.

MRS. CARRIE BOUTON GAINED IN FLESH 68 LBS. TO 121 1-2 LBS. BY THE USE OF A SIMPLE REMEDY.

MEN AND WOMEN INTERESTED.

"It is astonishing," said one of our physicians the other evening, "how many of the ordinary diseases people suffer from come from the one cause—excess of uric acid in the blood. To discover a medicine that would dissolve this acid has puzzled thousands of the best men of the medical profession, until Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., produced what is known the world over as Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. The great value we place in Favorite Remedy comes from the fact that it is the only medicine that will effectually dissolve this acid thus curing rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, livet and urinary troubles and the sicknesses women suffer from. These and many more troubles all come from the one cause, as I said before, this death dealing uric acid."

Perhaps there has been no one person in Wyoming Co., Pa., that has suffered more than Mrs. Carrie Bouton, formerly of Schottville, but now of Harvey's Lake, Luzerne Co. Mrs. Bouton, in relating her restoration to health, said: "From a growing girl I suffered from female trouble or weakness peculiar to my sex. Several physicians prescribed for me but I found no relief. I was reduced in flesh down to 68 pounds. By accident I heard of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy and determined to try it, and to my great joy I began to realize that I had found a medicine that was doing me good. I think I had used five bottles when I found that I weighed 121½ pounds and was better in health than I ever was before.

Inquiry among Mrs. Bouton's neighbors shows that she states nothing but the facts in regard to her case. Many other instances of the kind are widely talked of in Scottsville, Tunkhannock, Wilkesbarre and other places where Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has effected many cures after physicians had given up hope.

"But," says one of our prominent druggists, "Favorite Remedy is equally efficacious in other diseases, as talks with people I have sold Favorite Remedy to affirm. To my knowledge right in our town Favorite Remedy has cured people suffering from rheumatism, dyspepsia, kidney, liver and urinary troubles."

Since the publication in one of the New York medical journals of the case of Mr. E. P. Tayer, of East Nassau, N. Y., Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy has been increasing in sale. Mr. Tayer had suffered for fifteen years with inflammatory rheumatism. His case was practically abandoned by his physicians. Favorite Remedy was brought to his notice and in less than three months after its use he was a well man.

In commenting on this case Dr. W. H. Morse, of New York City, says: The great good in Favorite Remedy lies in its power to dissolve this deadly uric acid. In cases of dyspepsia, eczema, scrofula or any urinary diseases I have never known it to fail, when taken according to directions. Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is not only used by physicians now but can be found on sale by every medicine dealer.— Wilkes-Barre (Pa.) Times.

The printing of envelopes by the Government for business purposes will be abolished September next, and the $250,000 annually paid for this work will hereafter be distributed where it belongs—among the printers throughout the country. There is no more sense in the Government printing envelopes for business purposes than there would be in the Government starting a clothes pin factory or insisting on lettering all the tombstones sold throughout the country. The work belonged to the printers and the law should have been repealed long ago.

Two young men Edward and Robert Hoerner of Steelton, shot a green goods man in Williamsburg, near New York city last Saturday night. The two had been beaten out of $650, and took their revenge with the pistol. After the firing they were arrested, and gave their names as Joseph and Robert Hall. Their real names were Hoerner and their father is the proprietor of the Bessimer House at Steelton. It is reported that the young men intended to get the $3000 of counterfeit promised them and go to Chicago for the purpose of distributing it. Their victim died Tuesday afternoon, and they now begin to realize the serious condition in which they are placed.

No "R" Required.

The popular fallacy that it is illegal to sell oysters or expose them for sale during months without an "r" in their names is exploded. The act of June 2 1891, gave oyster dealers permisson to sell oysters all the year round. Previous to that time, the act of April 10, 1873, was in force, which imposed a fine of $100 upon any person who offered oysters for sale during June, July or August. But dealers openly sold oysters in prohibited season, and latterly the prosecutions were few and far between.

NORMAL SCHOOL NOTES.

THIRD ANNUAL EXCURSION.

Outside the classroom and the immediate work pertaining thereto, the all absorbing topic of conversation is with regard to the coming school excursion.

On next Thursday, May 25, the school will take their annual outing, and while in the two previous years they have had most pleasant days at "Central Park" on the B. & S. railroad, yet for the sake of a change as to place and securing thereby a change of route, the excursion this year will go to the beautiful and to some extent historic Blue Hill, opposite Northumberland.

This beautiful spot, from which an outlook is obtained far up and down old Susquehanna's noble stream, has been rendered far more inviting and comfortable through the enterprise of the Drumheller Bros. of Sunbury.

Hotel Shickellimy erected and owned by these popular caterers is justly becoming a popular resort alike for pleasure seekers or those who need rest from counter, shop, or study hall.

Well, a splendid time is anticipated. The D. L. & W. railroad has made a very generous reduction of rates, and all that is needful is that the fates shall decree us fair weather.

Thursday May 25th is the day. Every wish now heard is that the day may be pleasant, and that no student will miss this splendid opportunity for a day of pleasure.

These annual excursions are planned expressly for the students, and it therefore becomes imperative that none but the students and their personally invited friends attend them.

Prof. F. H. Green, of the West Chester State Normal School spent Saturday and Sunday with his friend Prof. Hartline. Prof. Green is deeply interested in the great question of Social Purity. He conducted a delightful meeting with the boys of the school, Sunday afternoon, at which time nearly seventy-five boys voluntarily took the pledge of the "White Cross Legion," with respect to Social Purity. Prof. Green also conducted the Sunday evening song service in the Auditorium.

Taking for his theme the oft repeated question: "How Are You?" he gave it special application to one's spiritual condition. The meeting was largely attended and was deeply impressive. The school extends a cordial welcome to Prof. Green and asks him most heartily, to come again..

A Conditional Fee.

A Mt. Carmel pastor was sitting in his library one evening recently when a knock at the door came. He answered and found a couple who desired to be united in matrimony. The pastor asked them into his parlor and performed the marriage ceremony, after which the groom handed him a sealed envelope supposed to have contained the usual compensation. The happy couple departed, and the reverend gentleman opened the envelope and found the following note: "If she turns out as I think she will, I will come back and pay you for your service."—Mt. Carmel News.

War and the World's Fair.

From Harper's Weekly.

As the first great World's Fair held in London in 1851 was shortly afterwards followed by the Crimean war, so some of its successors have had more or less great wars closely on their heels. If the World's Fairs did not bring on those wars they certainly did prevent them. But ourColumbian celebration presented one spectacle which is probabaly without precedent, and should be of good augury. Many of those who witnessed the great parade of sailors and marines on the streets of New York on April 27th may not have been mindful of the fact that they saw something that perhaps had never happened within memory of the present generation, and would not be possible anywhere else in the world: sailors and soldiers of ten different nations, with arms in their hands, united in one festive array —Englishmen, Russians, Germans, and Frenchmen belonging to the armed forces of rival powers that may, as is thought, at any moment come to blows among themselves—peaceably marching with musket on their shoulders and swords at their sides behind one another in one column. It was a spectacle emblematic to the position of this great American republic among the nations of the earth—the great peace power of the world embracing in its hospitality the great war powers of the world for a celebration of human progress and mutual good-will.

The people of Espy are to be congratulated on the departure of some bad characters from their community. For some time past they have held a residence there—claiming to be from Rochester. They evidently found the people of Espy to be law abiding citizens and have departed for some new field.

A New Chapter In Reading.

The first serious stept toward laying bare the condition of Reading and the acts which led the company into a recievership and bankruptcy is taken in the statement by Mr. Isaac L. Rice, having special reference to the operations last Fall in stock of Boston & Main and the New York & New England Railroads, with the securities of Reading and its cash as collateral and purchase money.

Mr. Rice was the Reading financial representative in London, and he has been for some time conducting an investigation into its affairs on behalf of foreign and American bondholders. He makes the present statement, however, independent of his principals and as a result of his own personal inquires. It appears, from the statement which he makes, that in September 24,036 shares of Boston & Maine and 32,000 shares of New York & New England were purchase by Mr. McLeod and the purchase secured by the use of Reading securities. At the present time these transactions leave the Reading involved to the amount of $350,000 in cash and $2,602,000 in securities, par value. In December, and after a considerable loss had been sustained, the Reading directors made the company responsible for these transactions, and ratified the use of securities belonging to the company pledged for purchases previously made in Mr. McLeod's name.

Mr. Rice's statement will attract the profoundest public attention. No one will presume to pass upon it without considering all Mr. McLeod has to say and until all the collateral facts are known. It is enough to say now that the charges made require the fullest and most complete answer. They cannot be treated as mere incidents or accidents in the endeavor to give Reading a New England connection. The public has a right to all the facts. When Reading suspended, it was for lack of $2050. Yet at that very time $250,000 was paid by the Reading on account of these stock transactions.

No one concerned, neither Mr. McLeod nor the receivers, neither the court nor the public authorities, can let the matter rest as it now stands on Mr. Rice's statement. An impartial and unsparing investigation is indispensable. The entire series of transactions involved, and which ended by involving Reading, must be laid bare and the relations of each person concerned must be made clear.—Press.

Hood's Cures.

In saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, its proprietors make no idle or extravagant claim. Statements from thousands of reliable people of what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for them, conclusively prove the fact—HOOD'S Sarsaparilla CURES.

A cold of unusual severity developed into a difficulty decidedly catarrhal in all its characteristics, threatening a return of my old chronic malady, catarrh. One bottle of Ely's Cream Balm completely eradicated every symptom of that painful and prevailing disorder.—E. W. Warner, Rochester, N. Y.

When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had headache the whole time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have not had headache since.—J. H. Sommers, Stephney, Conn.

The winter book at Chicago on the America will be a $40,000 book before it closes, and experts say that all the candidates with the least chance have been so well played that nothing but a miracle can save the book from loss.

President Higginbotham has called upon Edwin Walker, who is chairman of the committee on legislation, to submit an opinion whether or not the Exposition can be opened on Sunday in spite of the restriction placed upon this feature by congress when the appropriation of $2,500,000 was granted.

The main building will be closed on Sunday and the price of admission will be reduced to twenty-five cents.

World's Fair Strikers Still Out.

CHICAGO, May 17.—Considerable discontent and uneasiness was apparent yesterday among some of the laborers on the fair grounds and janitors of the different buildings because their salaries are not forthcoming. The men have not been paid for three or four weeks, and another month's pay will be due on the 26th.

Ladies' Sleeves for the Summer Season, and How to Make Them.

The most essential feature of our present modes is the pre-eminent part which the sleeves take in the general make up of a toilette. They constitute the dominant note, the striking accessory which compels the attention of the beholder. In point of variety of details, such as draperies, trimming and ornamentation, they surpass any other part of the costume. To this complication must be added the further necessity of knowing the historical origin and ascertaining the style most suitable to the figure of each individual wearer. The well-known and popular McDowell Fashion Journals are excellent guides in this embarrassing perplexity. Recognizing the important role of the sleeve in our modern styles, they have devoted many lessons on the different kinds of the prevailing sleeves and the manner of making them. These lessons are invaluable. They will be found in "La Mode de Paris," in "Paris Album of Fashion," and in "The French Dressmaker," (formerly "La Couturiere,") The former two cost $3.50 each a year, or 35 cents a copy. The latter is $3.00 per annum, or 30 cents a copy. "La Mode" with its low subscription price of $1.50 a year, or 15 cents a copy, is a unique publication of its kind not duplicated in this country. If you are unable to procure any of these magazines at your newsdealers do not accept any substitutes, but apply directly to Messrs. A. McDowell & Co., 4 West 14th Street, New York.

The Mad Dog Pest.

The mad dog scare is abroad and scarcely a paper comes to our table but has a report of dogs being killed afflicted with the rabies, and warning their people to muzzle the dogs. We might sound the alarm here if it were of use, as we know of no place more infested with a greater number of mangy looking curs. The law demands taxation of the whole brood, but we doubt if one half of them are assessed much less taxes paid for. It really seems that the poorer the family the more dogs are harbored, so that if a mad dog was to enter our borough he might bite a score of the latter before he could be killed. There is no disease that afflicts humanity more to be dreaded than hydrophobia, not even cholera. If the poison imbibed don't show itself immediately by throwing the victim on a bed of torture, it leaves a constant dread in the mind of the victim that makes life one long agony. Then away with all the superfluous dogs. Give them a short shrift, and force the owners of the remainder to muzzle them. And council should enforce it by ordinance. Hydrophobia is prevalent throughout the country, let them protect the people from its inroads.—Danville Intelligencer.

In Bloomsburg we have an ordinance requiring all dogs to be registered. Dogs unregistered may be killed. If a man were paid 50 cts. for every registered dog he found, he would make poor wages. The law seems a dead letter.

"I Owe my Life to You."

That is a strong statement.

Yet exactly what Miss Gertrude Sickler, of Wilton, N. J., has written to Mrs. Pinkham.

She says:—

"I suffered terribly with suppressed and painful menstruations. Doctors could only keep me from having fits each month by giving me morphine. This continued until I was completely prostrated.

"My father at last got me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which at once gave me relief. It did what the doctors could not—cured me. I never have any trouble now, and have no dread of the coming month.

"I owe my life to you. Oh! if other suffering women would try your valuable medicine they would bless you as I do."

TIMID GREAT MEN.

PUBLIC SPEAKERS ARE OFTEN POSSESSED WITH NERVOUS FEAR.

Mr. Spurgeon Dreaded Excitement in Great Audiences—Intense Mental and Physical Suffering Often Experienced by Famous Orators While Addressing Critical Assemblies.

It has been recently stated, says Cassell's Sunday Journal, by those who knew him well, that Mr. Spurgeon was still another example of the fact that public men often quake on the eve of their great successes. Though few guessed it, he was nervous in speaking, and one result of the disastrous panic at the Surrey Gardens in 1856 was that he ever afterward dreaded excitement in great audiences. At the Free Trade Hall in Manchester, 1872, the orator was in buoyant and brilliant form. Yet before delivering his address he had been attacked by nervous sickness in his cute-room.

As we have suggested, this curious preliminary recoil seems to be a frequent characteristic of the efforts that establish or increase fame. Inquiry shows that some form of timorousness dogs distinction like its shadow. It may have peculiar and even eccentric features. Mr. Edmund Yates has mentioned the case of a distinguished living politician, noted for his dash and aplomb while in the House of Commons, to whom on one occasion Sir Henry Halford, the eminent physician, gave an account of a railway accident. The narrator was elaborate in his description, and it was too much for the listener's nerves. In the midst of the story the doctor had to break off. His friend was on the point of fainting. Condition of mind bordering on panic has often prevailed up to the test moment with men who have had to face critical audiences.

The late Lord Derby earned the title of the "Rupert of debate" from his dashing alacrity, but he declared: "When I am going to speak my throat and lips are as dry as those of a man who is going to be hanged." He never rose to speak without experiencing a peculiar and very unpleasant "nervous tremor." The same was said of Lord Lyndhurst. That eminent jurist and statesman was totally unable to free himself, from beginning to end of his career, of trepidation and nervous emotion when he got upon his legs to address either a court or a Parliament.

Canning, too, told his friends that he knew beforehand, by a disagreeable set of symptoms, when he should win and hold the ear of the House and extort the admiration even of his adversaries. He was always conscious of an ominous chill of fear. It meant not failure, as was his dread, but a fine oration.

Emilio Castelar, the silver-tongued Spanish Tribune, is simply miserable on the eve of a great speech. His unrest and anxiety on such occasions are a characteristic feature of the man. He wanders distraught about the building in which the Cortes is in session. "He rushes into the cafe to take a glass of water; seems to be seized with a fever; fancies he will not know how to put the words together; that he will be laughed at or hissed; not a single lucid idea of his speech remains in his head—he has confused and forgotten everything"—until the moment when he looks round upon the expectant faces and delivers the first sentence of his address. Then words do not fail; they come to his help in stately, sonorous order. Then courage does not flag. He is a statesman with a mission, inspired and earnest. Every atom of timorousness has evaporated.

Driving Away an Eclipse.

Esquimaux are believers in ghosts. They also believe in the transmigration of the soul; that the spirits return to animals, winds, rocks, ice and water; that they are evil, angry or good, as the elements are favorable or unfavorable; and that they can be appeased by hoodoo rites if the performer is sufficiently versed in occult sciences. To change the wind, for instance, they chant, drum and howl against it, build fires, shoot against it, and, as the last resort, fire the graves of the dead. The tribes put hoodoos on each other by ceremonial dances and howling. The hoodoo of total destruction upon neighbors is the building of a fire within sight of those coming under their displeasure. Tribal relations are severed by making a fire outside and burning all ornaments or disguises used in ceremonial dances, such as ravens' skins, deer horns and masks. Tribes hoodooed retaliate; but with families and individuals it is different. Outlawed by their tribe or relatives, they become discouraged and go off and die. Eclipses of the moon almost paralyze the people with fear. Arctic earthquakes having been coincident with eclipses of the moon, they say that an eclipse is the shadow of the earth being piled up and shaken. All the unutkoots in a village will howl and drum till it has passed, thinking they have driven it off. Among the Nooatoks all hands rally around a pair of buckhorns, form a circle, and march to the music of drums and chants till the eclipse is over.

True Marriage.

A happy wedlock is a long falling in love. I know young persons, says Theodore Parker, think love belongs only to the brown hair and plump, round, crimson cheek. So it does for its beginning, just as Mount Washington begins at Boston Bay. But the golden marriage is a part of love which the bridal day knows nothing of. Youth is the tassel and silken flower of love; age is the full corn, ripe and solid in the ear. Beautiful is the morning of love with its prophetic crimson, violet, saffron, purple and gold, with its hopes of days that are to come. Beautiful also is the evening of love, with its glad remembrance and its rainbow side turned towards heaven as well as earth.

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

STYLES OF MARKING, TRAVELING DRESSES, SILK WAISTS, SHOES, GLOVES, TRIMMINGS.

Ruffles are carried to such an extreme on wool costumes, that cotton dresses are usually very simple made; insertion, white braid, lace and ribbon, or embroidered edging, so far fulfilling all requirements as to trimmings. A blue and white striped gingham, made with one deep flounce, reaching above the knee (merely the increased width of the skirt) headed by two rows of narrow white braid with three at the bottom, and Eton jacket trimmed with similar braid; serves to illustrate a popular style of making ordinary cotton goods. A dark blue percale with white dots, has a perfectly plain skirt; seams corded in white and Eton jacket with light blue satin revers and white China silk blouse. It should not be inferred however that no ruffles are seen on cotton fabrics, as white or colored dotted Swiss muslins may have a muslin ruffle or several of lace; when lined throughout with silk and trimmed with lace and ribbon make very handsome costumes. Duck sails are again fashionable, pearl buttons on the vest being the only trimming, with perhaps the addition of one or two rows of braid.

TRAVELLING DRESSES

assume this year an unusual importance, and serges, small checks or Cheviot challies are most in demand, made with plain skirts, short jackets with silk blouse and belt. A full shirring is a newer blouse front than a wide, plaited frill, the latter however is still fashionable. Plaided, striped, dotted or plain silk are all appropriate for this purpose, great liberty existing as regards color. Challi dresses admit of very elaborate trimmings of colored silk ruffles, lace and ribbon, when however the material shows a conspicuous figure, skirts are often entirely plain, or large knobs of four-inch wide ribbon are regularly spaced around the front and sides.

SILK WAISTS

are more varied than ever and in addition to a general revival of last season's styles, surplice fronts carried under the arm to form a belt fastened at the back, is the latest idea. Plain and changeable silks in brilliant hues are somewhat toned down by white or black lace bretelles, and wide lace is often draped over a full sleeve; that of the bretelle forming a second row. Quite a change is noticeable in belts, and while pointed ones still in favor, "wrinkled" belts both wide and narrow are most stylish, ordinarily of some material used in trimming the costume.

VERY LARGE BUTTONS

are seen on new fox patent boots with cloth or kid tops for ladies wear, and patent leather slippers with Rhine stone buckles remain very fashionable. Tan, gray or black Oxford ties are so much cooler for summer wear than high boots, that this fact ensures their popularity; and as handsome shoes are one of the first essentials of good dressing, the next best thing is to make the partly-worn look like new, and this is readily accomplished by using the ever popular renovator, Raven Gloss for ordinary purposes, but for renewing the brilliancy of dull patent, calf skin or enameled leather, nothing is so efficacious as Patentene or the Club Polish for new patent leather. Tan or russet shoes are among the season's leading styles, and when somewhat rubbed are no longer thrown away, as Tanshine removes all soil from whatever cause, rendering them soft and fresh. White Clover powder sifted into the stocking prevents undue prespiration and affords comfort for those with tender feet.

GREEN AND PURPLE

are leading colors in fashionable gloves, but when the glove does not match the costume, it should be in contrast. Large buttons are still worn and heavy black stitching is again in favor. Jet or colored passementerie, white or black lace, satin or velvet are in extreme favor as trimmings, and lace bretelles confined at the waist under a belt, and caught on the shoulder by satin ribbon bows, are worn over any plain waist with excellent effect.

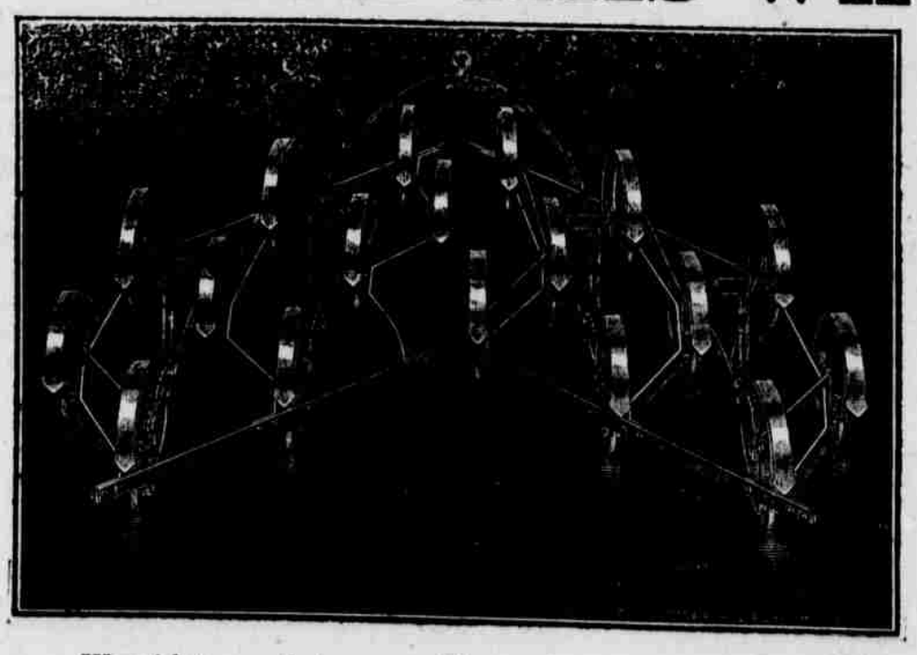
LOOK THIS WAY!



TO Farmers and the PUBLIC -in- General.

We wish to say that we are still manufacturing and dealing in Agricultural implements at Orangeville, Pa., and certainly from long experience we should know the wants of the Farmers and public in general. And, in this connection we wish to say that all machinery we manufacture or handle is equal to any on the market, and sold at lowest prices.

We make a good cast head Land Roller, which every Farmer should have. Also Plows, Scotch Harrows, Cultivators, Wood Saws, Corn Shellers, and Feed Cutters, and a specialty of Horse Power Threshing Machinery. Then we handle the 'Empire" Fertilizer, Grain Drill and Hay Rake, "Hench's" Walking and Riding wheel Cultivators, "Woods" Harvesting machinery (which needs no recommendation), single and double Corn Cultivators, Engines and Saw Mills etc. Lastly we wish to show up the New Deerfield Lever Harrow the only one that has a separate adjustment for each tooth independent of the levers. The only four lever Harrow on the market whereby the two centre sections can be let down in a dead furrow, or any one or more of the four sections can be raised and the balance of the teeth kept at work, frame at all times being level. It has a self coupling hinge, no bolts or pieces to lose, with circular steel evener to equalize draft while turning corners. This Harrow is no experiment with us, and will be put out on their merits same as any other goods.

We also make and carry a large stock of Plow repairs, also an endless variety of other implement repairs. We are also prepared to do almost any kind of saw or grist mill repairing (having recently put in new Iron Lathe and boring machinery etc. We also carry a full line of dressed building lumber. We appreciate the patronage of the public in the past and covet a continuance of the same in the future and will be glad to have any one call to see us, or answer their inquiries for any-thing in our line and will qnote lowest prices.

WHITE & CONNER.
